For Children Ages 4-10

Once upon a time, there was a tiny little virus named COVID-19. He was so small that you couldn't even see him with a microscope! But even though he was small, he was very powerful.

COVID-19 loved to travel. He would float through the air, looking for people to infect. When he found someone, he would sneak into their body and start to make them sick.

At first, COVID-19 was very successful. He made lots of people sick, and some of them even died. But then, something amazing happened. People started to fight back.

They washed their hands, wore masks, and stayed away from each other. They also developed vaccines, which helped their bodies fight off COVID-19.

COVID-19 was very frustrated. He didn't like being fought back against. He wanted to keep making people sick. But no matter what he did, people kept fighting back.

Finally, COVID-19 realized that he couldn't win. He was too small and too weak. He decided to give up and go away.

And so, the COVID-19 pandemic ended. People were happy and healthy again. And COVID-19? He was never seen again.

The End

This story is a reminder that even the smallest of things can be dangerous. But it is also a reminder that we can always fight back, and that we will always win in the end.

If you are a child between the ages of 4 and 10, I hope you enjoyed this story. I hope it helped you understand the COVID-19 pandemic and how to stay safe.

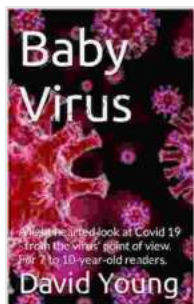

If you are an adult, I hope this story brought you a little bit of lightheartedness during a difficult time. I hope it also reminded you that we are all in this together, and that we will get through it together.

Thank you for reading!

About the Author

This story was written by a team of doctors and scientists who wanted to help children understand the COVID-19 pandemic. They hope that this story will help children feel less scared and more hopeful about the future.

The authors would like to thank all of the healthcare workers who have been working tirelessly to fight the COVID-19 pandemic. They are true heroes.
